ABOUT ME

I'm Lehsaini Imadeddine Louei, a student of computer engineering who is enthusiastic about innovation, technology, and solving problems. I enjoy creating innovative solutions that tackle pressing problems because I have a strong analytical mindset and a hands-on approach.

In order to improve accessibility for people with speech impairments, I worked on a group project at my university from January to March 2025 that developed an AI-based application that converts hand gestures into text or speech. With an emphasis on precision, effectiveness, and user-friendly design, my experience includes programming, system development, and artificial intelligence.

I know how to program in the following languages:

- Java
- Python
- C

My proficiency in Arabic (Native), English (B2), and French (B2) enables me to work well with others in global settings. My quest is motivated by a dedication to impactful innovation, digital transformation, and ongoing learning.

Aside from technology, I have a strong interest in fitness and sports, such as football, swimming, and weightlifting. In addition, I like to travel, learn about other cultures, watch TV shows and movies, listen to music, and create art.
